

Diary of a Nursing Sister on the Western Front 1914-15	Published 1915 The title is, I think, self explanatory. The nurse in question went out to France at the beginning of the war and remained there until May 1915 after the second battle of Ypres when she went back to a Base Hospital and the diary ceases. Although written in diary form, it is clearly taken from letters home and gives a vivid if sometimes distressing picture of the state of the casualties occasioned during that period. After a time at the General Hospital in Le Havre she became one of the three or four sisters working on the ambulance trains which fetched the wounded from the Clearing Hospitals close to the front line and took them back to the General Hospitals in Boulogne, Rouen and Le Havre. Towards the end of the account she was posted to a Field Ambulance (station) close to Ypres (leper, or in First World War speak 'Wipers') (Summary by Andy Minter) Read by Librivox volunteers. Total running time: 6:58:34 This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org. Cover picture Annise(2012). Copyright expired in U.S., Canada, EU. and all countries with author's life +70 yrs laws. Cover design by Annise This design is in the public domain.	Diary of a Nursing Sister on the Western Front 1914-15
--	---	--